CONDITIONS OF SALE.

Please Read Sale Terms Before Bidding.

This is a bona-fide public sale, for prompt cash settlement, and irresponsible persons who are not sure whether they can pay for what they bid on, are asked not to bid. The cataloguer has taken special pains to describe each lot accurately. Errors will be corrected, but he reserves the sole right to decide upon any claims. No corrections or refunds will be made, and no lots can be returned, unless the bidder submits his case in writing within 30 days of the date of the sale.

Coins and medals are sold at so much per PIECE, and no lot will be separated. You cannot buy a few pieces out of a lot but must buy all of it. The auctioneer will accept no bid under 10 cents to start a lot where that lot contains only one piece; nor will he accept any advance under 5c on any lot containing but one piece; after the price has reached $2. no advance under 10c will be accepted on any lot containing one piece; after $5.00 the bid must advance 25c each time; after $10 no bid under 50c.

Our rules regarding lots containing more than one piece will remain unchanged and the same as before.

Auction sales are strictly for cash. Parties unknown to me and bidding for the first time, must give bank or other reliable reference, or their bids will not be executed.

Forward your bids as early as possible, as thousands of bids have to be entered. Do not make ridiculously low bids, such as 10c. and 15c. on foreign silver coins worth several times over as bullion. Write your bids plainly, with a pen if practicable.

Where the number of pieces in a lot is not given after the description, there is but one piece in the lot.

Be sure you bid on the lot you wish to buy. We cannot correct such errors.

All coins, etc., are genuine unless otherwise described.

A charge of 5% will be made to cover packing but where the parcel is bulky an additional packing charge will be made. No charge made for bidding except for lots actually purchased. Remit by money order or New York draft.

If any further information is required as to valuation of lots, or how to bid, please write the cataloguer, THOMAS L. ELDER.

Important Notice. We keep two books of the sale recording each lot as sold, and we will not accept any sale records from outsiders. Our records are final.

No priced catalogue will be furnished of this sale.

INTRODUCTION.

ANCIENT ROMAN COINS AND MINTS IN GREAT BRITAIN.

With Additional Notes on Gaulish Mint Coins Found in Wales.

By THOMAS L. ELDER.

The Roman domination of Britain dates from the landing of Caesar in B. C. 55. Later, in A. D. 43, Claudius I. went to England. In 78 Agricola defeated and subjected the Caledonians. Hadrian landed in England in 120, while Antoninus Pius visited the British Isles in 140. During the long period of four hundred years of Roman occupation of Britain the rich mineral deposits in England and Wales were continuously worked and their tin, gold, lead and copper helped greatly to enrich Rome and supply her large and urgent need for metals, so useful to her in peace and war. North Britain was abandoned early and Ireland was not even invaded, on account of the poverty of these regions in minerals. Descendants of Phoenician and Iberian miners are still pointed out in the "short, dark people" in Wales. During this period of occupation Britain built a net-work of roads, and many towns.

Numerous finds of coins of the ancient invaders have come to light during the years of the middle ages and on down to the present. In 1873 a small hoard of 200 coins was found at Barley Pound near Condall, Hants, of rulers from Claudius Gothicus to Allectus. Of the find one of Carausius is thus described. Obverse: Imp. Carausius. P. Avg. Draped and radiate bust to right. Reverse: Genio Britanni. In Exergue, C (Camalodinium?) The youthful Genius is shown holding patera above a lighted altar and Cornucopia. This is said to be a unique type. Other types of Carausius and Allectus were struck at London and Colchester. The reverses included Galleys, a Lion or Hyena and legends Temporum Felicit, Saeculum Avg., Moneta Avg. etc.

In 1907. at Little Ormes Head, North Wales, a bronze vessel was dug up, containing several hundred coins of the Roman Emperor Carausius; and with this was exhumed a larger pottery jar containing a corroded mass of bronze, which on being examined proved to be 5,000 Roman middle and small-sized Bronze coins of British and Gaulish Mints. Careful washing of the coins left them in almost perfect mint state, although about sixteen hundred years old. The location where found showed evidences of Roman masonry work and this hoard is thought to have been a military chest, kept at a Roman station, at the point where the coins were disinterred. The Roman emperors pictured on the coins included Allectus, Maximilian Hercules, Maximinus Daza, Licinius Pater, Quintillus, Aurelian, Severina, Numerian, Diocletian, Carausius, Constantius Chlorus, Valeria and Constantine I. The types of British mints numbered 25, Gaulish and other types 17. The mints included the Gaulish moneying places of Siscia, Treveris, or Treves, Arles and Lyons. The coins of Constantine I predominated, with 3,500 pieces; Licinius I was represented by 1,400, while the varieties included 172 of Gaul. It has been figured that these coins were deposited about 310 A. D. and therefore sixteen hundred and seventeen years must have passed since Roman hands put them into the two receptacles. Most of the busts were cuirassed, and the mints of both Constantine I and Licinius included many of London. The busts of these rulers are well executed. The mints of London were designated by the letters PLN (Pecunia Londinensis), M. L. N. (Moneta Londinensis), M. S. L. (Moneta Signata Londinensis), M. LL. (Moneta Legionis Londinensis), PLON(Pecunia Londinensis) and M. L. (Moneta Londinensis). The inscription "Rvtvpiae" is supposed to mean Richborough. The Treves mint is marked PTR (Percussa Treveris), MOSTP, MOSTS, MOSTT and MOSTQ (Moneta Signata Treviris Prima, Sec, ter, or quarta). Arles is designated PARL, SARL, TARL and QARL (Prima, Sec, ter or quarta Arelate.) Lyons, (Lugdunum). PLG (Pecunia Lugduni). The chief reverse types are Sol, the Deity, Genius, Concord, Mars, Horses, altars, standards, Soli Invicto, Principi Ivventvtis and SPQR.

This remarkable lot of coins has been described minutely in the British Numismatic Journal by W. Sharpe Ogden, and is rated as one of the most notable of recent finds. We have word (through Mr. Newell) of a recent find made near the British Museum, of which Mr. Elder has secured several hundred fine examples with some of the London Mint. He notes a good many of the "Urbs Roma" type with helmeted head of Rome, the reverse showing the traditional wolf suckling Romulus and Remus, the "founders of Rome", the latter a small bronze coin of fine workmanship of the time of Constantine Magnus. The immense number of coins struck at this time in England at the various mints, but chiefly in London, may be imagined when it is stated that it is next to impossible to find of the thousands recently unearthed two coins from exactly the same die. The die-makers must have been kept very busy with the immense difficulty of keeping the die sufficiently harder than the coin metal to prevent breakage.

In April, 1922, in a small cave in the cliff near East Wood Ashover, Derbyshire, England, were found 42 Roman silver and debased denarii and antoniani of rulers ranging from Septimius Severus to Gordian III, covering a period of 50 years.

The English coins of Allectus include reverse types "Laetitia Avgvsti" and "Providentia Avg," and often bear the London mint-mark M. L. Coins of Allectus and Carausius are also known to have been struck at Colchester (C.). A few great rarities in reverse types or mints of Britain have turned up. These get individual classification in the journals of the British numismatic societies. A coin of Maximian bore the reverse "Pax Avg. G. G. M. L." (London). "XXI."

The later rulers of Britain, following the Romans, sometimes copied Roman coin types and designs in the curious "sceatta". Coins of St. Ethelbert bear the "wolf and twins," a common Roman type described above (tempus Const. I). A widely varied coinage followed imitating Gaulish types, with heads, animals, dots, dashes and other curious symbols, running down to the beginning of the Anglo-Saxon era, when a new type appeared in the British silver penny.

THEFTS.

There is a tradition among astrologers and in astrology that "Sagittarius shall be in danger from theft." Be it known, whatever merit there is in the idea, that this particular "Sagittarius" has been a good mark for thieves for the last twenty years. In our store on East 23rd Street the writer caught an office boy selling stolen coins to a down-town dealer in coins. These were United States Silver coins. The object in stealing coins usually is to sell them and realize money on them. We are going to list from time to time every coin stolen, which will pretty easily fix the attention of any one buying coins on the question of their identity. Our thefts of the last three years include: About 100 Indestructible Pearl Beads, without clasps, but very fine beads; about 300 Little groschen coins of Sigismundus I. of Lithuania. Type The Duke mounted, with dates from 1544 to about 1558. Reverse arms. These are silver; seven or eight copies of Mr. Newcomb's Book on the U. S. Cents of 1801, 1802 and 1803, stolen from our rear room during a coin sale at No. 9 Each 37th Street; $20 Kellog & Co. gold; Broad Metapontum Stater, Very fine; 1799 cent, good, with a bold date, an 1856 cent, taken at the same time and uncirculated, and other objects. Not only that but a young thief, who had been enjoying free meals at my house, while being paid 75 cents per hour for his work, stole a lot of paper money and coins from me, and served three months in jail for his enterprise. This lad was just 17 years of age. So we have had thieves and thieves, of all sorts of social standing, ranging from the unwashed young degenerate referred to, up to the slick and educated "collector of coins." They all belong in the same class and all should be doing their time up at Ossining where social rank is leveled. To the innocent we do not refer, and to the guilty we warn them that we have taken special measures to detect them and if we catch them it will go hard with them. We think we know who they are.

NATHAN HALE.

This patriot and martyr, an officer in our army, has not had a medal struck to him by Congress, as many other of the patriots have had, and he did not have a monument to his memory until comparatively recent years. He answered the call of Washington himself in 1776 for a volunteer to go into the British lines in New York city to procure valuable military information. Hale got the information but was recognized and betrayed by his cousin, bearing the same surname of Hale, and conducted to the presence of Sir William Howe, who did not even grant him the semblance of a trial but "ordered him hanged in the morning." He met his death like a patriot and regretted he had but one life to lose for his country. Provost-Marshal Cunningham, a renegade, observed the utmost cruelty towards him to the last, tearing up his letters to his relatives, so that it "would not be known that a rebel could die with so much fortitude."

Andre was captured by three militiamen after he left Arnold. With him were found six incriminating documents in the handwriting of Arnold, to further the betrayal of the fortress at West Point into the hands of the British army. Andre, while captured on September 23rd, was not executed until October 2nd, and he received every consideration that could be granted, Washington even sending meals to him from his own table. He was not tried by court-martial, contrary to common supposition. Washington simply appointed a board of officers, consisting of a dozen American generals, who politely questioned him. General Greene told Andre he need not hurry with his replies nor reply at all to any question unless he saw fit to do so. Andre was even allowed to send for his servant and clothing in New York. The Board of officers reported their findings to Washington who decided on his fate, upon hearing the recommendation of the Board. Andre was a spy, he promptly admitted it, and died like a brave man. Hale expressed a far nobler sentiment as he was about to be hung than Andre's in his last words. Andre called out to the Americans to "witness" that he "died like a brave man." Compare the last words of the two. Yet Andre and his spying with Arnold are in every American history while Hale's part is sometimes omitted. There seem to be among us a few "historians" who are very very considerate of the feelings of Europeans. So it would seem, to say the least. Is this a good reason for contracting or omitting our history? It is quite likely, however, that we shall have with us these small-souled writers for many years to come, so long as they receive applause and adulation for their great accomplishments as "historians." How galling it must have been to them to have to lick, or stick, onto their letters very recently, the two-cent stamp bearing the likeness of Nathan Hale!

ATTACKS ON MEDAL-WINNERS OF THE REVOLUTION.

From the Adamses to the Hamiltons, and from the private soldier's ranks to George Washington nobody seems immune from criticism, and we are at present reading the "onslaughts" against their characters and abilities, from the cock-sure modern college professor "historian" and from "biographers of Washington" with "Hollywood complex." The latter sort of mud-slinging is the most ungracious and disgusting of all, for if we owe about everything we have in independence to anybody it is to George Washington, the man without whom the Revolution could not have been won, at least not without many more years of struggle. His abilities as a military commander have been vigorously assailed, even if he caused Sir William Howe to evacuate Boston, right at the start of the Revolution, and if Howe never got into Boston afterwards. For this service he was awarded by Congress the largest gold medal ever struck during the War. This most modern "historian" of Washington believes we should "be consistent" in allowing all sorts of alleged improprieties about Washington's personal conduct and character, to be constantly flaunted in our faces from many pages of his books. That sort of thing to him seems merely natural in this modern day and age and the proper way to write about a great man. But the most amusing thing of all is to have these literary geniuses tell us just how they would have fought the battles of the Revolutionary war and what Washington did not do that he should have done. In other words we should go to Bohemia and "Hollywood" for our Napoleon Bonapartes and U. S. Grants. This gentleman biographer has got sat down on pretty hard at times recently, and seems to be able to stand some more pressure. Even Europe is laughing at us and telling us she prefers the old-fashioned picture of our Commander Washington in preference to the new model, pictured with such bizarre trappings in 1927.

THE VALENTINE SALE RESULTS.

Dr. Valentine has written me stating my sale of his coin collection was much better than he anticipated, the results obtained being much more than the sum he offered to sell the collection for to "at least two prominent dealers." He said he was "very glad they did not accept." The moral is, send your coins to us to catalogue and sell for you.

DEAD WOOD.

We have recently gone through our mailing list and have weeded out a good many addresses. A number of these we have not heard from in two years or more, so decide they are not interested in our sales or our catalogs. Catalogs cost money, all other ideas to the contrary, and big money, and we ask collectors to assist us in reducing our printing bills by not asking for catalogs unless they send us an occasional bid. We are going to cut off all who do not bid in six or eight sales, naturally.

APPRECIATION.

December 12th, 1927.

"Elder Coin & Curio Corp'n.
8-10 West 37th Street, New York City.

Dear Mr. Elder.

I enclose check for $475.65 covering lots purchased at last week's sale. Sorry I did not get more but half cents at $320 per are too rich for my blood. I think you had a very successful sale and prices realized in most cases were remarkable.

I am glad to express my appreciation of the efficiency and care exercised in conducting your sales, giving both buyer and seller most satisfactory service. Signed, ..."

Note:—We have the original on file in our office, which shows that we please customers.
